A Message from the Sheridan Superintendent

In the coming weeks, there will be many opportunities for parents and community members to be involved in future planning for Sheridan School District.

Here is a brief summary of those opportunities:

Budget Committee - Budget Committee meetings are open to the public, and I encourage anyone interested in learning about our fiscal management or wanting to provide input to attend. The first meeting will be an overview, followed by an in-depth look at the general fund, grants, and finally, the recommendation to the Sheridan School Board for approval. Ultimately, we want the 2022-23 budget designed to meet the needs of our students, provide for safe and well-functioning facilities, and position the District for financial stability in the coming years.

School-Based Health Center - Sheridan School District was awarded a planning grant that will consist of a community needs assessment, developing key partnerships, and determining if the program is a good fit for our community. The District will form a committee that will use the grant funds for the phase 1 planning process. If you are interested in this project, please consider joining the planning committee.

West Valley Career Tech - Building design plans are underway thanks to a large donation from the United Way of Salem. In the coming weeks, industry advisories will be created to inform the design of the specific career pathways and equipment to purchase, supporting workforce development. The industry advisories are made up of people who currently work or are retired from each of the specific pathways: Auto Tech, Fire Fighting/EMT, Agriculture, Business, and Manufacturing.

Student Investment Account Grant - This state grant supports students' mental and behavioral health needs and increases academic achievement for all students. The funds can be used for more instructional time, address student health and safety, and provide a well-rounded education such as art, music, and college credit opportunities. The grant process requires community input. This can be in the form of a survey, small group discussions, and community forums. I strongly encourage Sheridan's parents and community members to participate in these opportunities.

Bond Committee - This committee will meet once or twice a month, reviewing the structural needs of district facilities and determining the priorities for capital improvements. The District is in a strong position to acquire the Oregon School Capital Improvement grant of $4.0 million in addition to the funds generated through an approved bond levy. Parent and community involvement is vital to maintaining safe and efficiently running schools for the Sheridan community.

Sheridan School District is in a unique position, with community involvement, to establish programs and services that will meet the needs of our current and future students. Please join me in these endeavors by calling the district office at 971-261-6959 to let me know of your interest. None of this will be possible without you!

Wishcycling: Why it Matters What We Throw Into Which Bin

April Carothers

I can't count how many times I've opened the lid to the recycling bin only to see things stuffed in there that don't belong. I've read the instructions from my trash company carefully, and I know what they will take and what they won't. Someone nameless keeps shoving things in there that seem recyclable and may even be labeled as recyclable – but they aren't. The result: the whole bin will be dumped, and nothing we've set aside will get recycled.

Wishcycling is what happens when smart, reasonable people think something should be recyclable, so they put it into the recycling bin. Anything with that triangle recycling symbol is recyclable, right? Isn't that how they told us it works? The short answer is no: if there are objects in the recycling bin that the trash company does not accept, the whole bin goes to the dump, adding to that obscenely large pile of stinking garbage. Sometimes a whole neighborhood's recyclables end up in the landfill because one can had something in it that polluted the process

Wishcycling is born from the sincere desire to do what's right. No one wants to drown in trash, which is what it feels like sometimes standing in front of Safeway in McMinnville when the wind is coming from the southwest. Plastics are even more concerning: poisonous micro-plastics are found in every location on earth because plastic never actually breaks down to zero. We'd all like to do our part to reduce, reuse, and recycle. Until January of 2018 China was taking at least 700,000 tons of our plastic each year, but they pulled out when they got tired of taking in "recyclable" plastic that was polluted with non-recyclables and was in fact poisoning their environment. Suddenly, the U.S. had to scramble to figure out how to dispose of all that plastic. Companies are working on the problem, but in the meantime, we can educate ourselves about what can and can't be recycled right now. We can also cut back on single use plastics, like small vogurt or applesauce containers, straws, take-out boxes. We can use multi-use coffee pods or straws and carry reusable grocery bags. We can push for goods to be sold in packaging that is truly re-usable. Some lawmakers want corporations that produce the waste to pay for it, even if their product has gone through consumer hands. That might motivate change at the top.

One problem is that we don't have the technology yet to truly recycle what we should. Another is that labeling is misleading. The discouraging truth is that most plastics are piling up with nowhere to go, or worse, ending up in landfills. Only plastics marked as #1 PET or #2 HPDE are fairly easy to recycle, so many companies won't touch the rest. Other problems are that plastic lids or bags plug equipment, bringing everything to a halt, and paper that has been contaminated with food can ruin an entire batch of recyclable paper. So that cardboard pizza box? That's a no-go: put it in the trash.

There are a few simple guidelines for what can go in the recycling bin:

• Rinse #1 or #2 plastics: "empty, clean, and drv!"

Nothing smaller than a tennis ball.

 Jugs and open mouth containers, metals, and clean paper (no food residue).

• No plastic bags or lids.

Top contaminants/items that cause problems:

• Glass bottles can be taken to a local depot. • Some plastic bags can be taken to certain stores.

 Plastic take-out containers and clamshells, coffee pods, and diapers are trash.

• Paper with food on it is trash.

Electronics like computers, printers, tv's, etc., can go to the depot; some can be taken to Best Buy for recycling. Staples recycles some printer cartridges. Motor oil in clear, closed containers can also go to the depot. Yamhill County has free hazardous waste collection every year for items like batteries, cleaning chemicals, and old paint.

If you're wondering at this point why we should even try, there are still advantages to recycling what we can. We might be able to lower our garbage bill by recycling more and using a smaller trash can, and recycling does reduce waste of resources. The more that can be recycled, the less that ends up in the landfill. Recycling also creates jobs.

The U.S. is generating more trash than ever, up 60% since 1985. Each of us, if we average the numbers, puts off five pounds of trash per day. That's a lot of garbage. And it's not all on us: companies could be doing much more to reduce waste. It's up to us to complain, to demand better. I don't need my applesauce in small plastic cups as much as I need clean air. Until our technology catches up with our waste, all we can do is work harder to not produce so much garbage. One step is to make sure that we aren't wishcycling and that what we put in the recycling bin can truly be reused.

Loretta [Papen] Kleinsmith May 27, 1930-Dec. 1, 2021

Loretta [Papen] Kleinsmith, age 91, passed away peacefully on Dec. 1, 2021, at St. Francis Hospital in Topeka, Kan.

Loretta was a strong and amazing woman blessed to live a long and full life. She was the third oldest of 14 children, born on May 27, 1930, to Joseph and Victoria Papen of Sheridan. Loretta was a selfless woman with many talents. She had a strong love and devotion to her Catholic faith, especially the Blessed Mother and the Holy Rosary. She was a member of the Legion of Mary. She was always happiest being with her family and couldn't get enough laughter in her life. She was a beloved daughter, wife, mother (of 10), aunt, friend, grandmother (of 42), great grandmother (of 71), and great-great-grandmother (of 2)!

Loretta married Aloysius Kleinsmith on Sept. 30, 1950, in Sheridan. Al and Loretta spent the first year of marriage on the Kleinsmith farm in Murdo, S.D., where their first child was born. Their second child was born in McMinnville. They then moved to Southern California, where they had another eight children. Loretta had a home-based business called "Home-maker" (when her third child was born the oldest was 22 months old), which was a voluntary position. After her youngest children reached high school, she found jobs (that paid) outside the home, her proudest accomplishment was being a real estate agent in Southern California.

Loretta and Al moved north to Oregon in 1989. They retired in the Salem/Silverton area, where they lived until Loretta's husband died in 2005. Loretta moved to St. Marys, Kan., in 2007, where she spent five years as a parishioner of Assumption Chapel. She moved to St. Cloud, Minn., in 2012 to be closer to her children who lived in that area. She moved back to Kansas in 2021, just seven months before her death, where she was again a parishioner of Assumption Chapel in St. Marys.

She is survived by nine of her ten children: Mike Kleinsmith, Oakland, Calif., David Kleinsmith, Maple Hill, Kan., Randy (Pam) Kleinsmith, Daytona Beach, Fla., Teri Frank, Wenden, Ariz., Doug Kleinsmith, Minneapolis, Minn., Judi Dodge, Des Moines, Wash.,

Lori (Frank) Payne, Maple Hill, Kan., Gerard (Kim) Kleinsmith, St. Mary's, Kan., and, Rick Kleinsmith, St. Augustine, Fla. Loretta was preceded in death by her parents, Joseph and Victoria Papen, of Sheridan; nine of her 13 siblings; her husband of 54 years, Aloysius F Kleinsmith; and her second oldest son, Stephen Kleinsmith, Post Falls, Idaho.

Loretta was blessed to have received the sacraments of the Catholic Church just eight hours before dying - Holy Communion, Extreme Unction, and Apostolic Blessing.

In December, a rosary and funeral mass was held in St. Mary's, Kan., with burial at Our Lady of Peace Cemetery in St. Marys following the Mass.

In lieu of flowers, the family invites contributions to the family's GiveSendGo account at the following link: givesendgo.com/ G2AG4. This account will help pay for the funeral and cover the stipend for the Gregorian Masses and cover the costs of having Loretta's husband moved from Oregon to Kansas to be buried next to his wife. The family would like to thank everyone for their thoughts and prayers.

Instant Home, Just Add Concrete: 3D Printed Homes

April Carothers

John Day, Oregon, this year, will see brand new technology in home building. The small city has seen it's population decline for the past three decades; even so, there might be three or four new homes built each

OFFICE 503.697.7214 NMLS OFFICE 233782 ML1018 @ OSWEGO MORTGAGE year. City Manager Nick Green is hoping to see 100 new homes built in the next five years using 3D printing techniques.

Zachary Mannheimer is the founder and CEO of Alquist 3D, which made the news by literally breaking new ground with the first fully 3D printed home in Virginia, as part of a Habitat for Humanity project. Mannheimer is working with Green to build more of these homes in Central Oregon. Burns and Lakeview are also hoping to get in on the new trend.

Affordable housing has been an issue for some time now in the U.S. The Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (Freddie Mac) estimates there is a current shortage of over 3 million homes. Another factor is cost: before you taunt a young person for not living on their own, consider that in order to earn enough to live alone today in Yamhill County, one would have to work full time at $18 per hour. Add children into the mix, and costs go up exponentially: if that same person has two kids, they need to earn over $40 per hour. This is a problem, considering how many jobs out there are proudly offering minimum wage (Oregon minimum wage is between $12.50 and $14.75 depending on area)-some while requiring a college degree.

With many families desperately trying to find housing they can afford, 3D printed homes may provide an option because they cost between 20-40% less than conventional construction. A 3D printer is used, operated by three to four people. The printer follows a computerized blueprint, squeezing concrete through a nozzle, building up layers to form walls and a roof. The main structure can be up in 2 days! The issue of concrete's enormous carbon footprint is being addressed through alternate materials and processes meant to produce less CO2. These homes should last 175 years, are fire-resistant, and are being tested for hurricane and earthquake resistance.

Costs should continue to go down as the technology develops. For example, in 1975 a new VCR cost $1400, which sounds outrageous today. As technology advances for a particular item, costs go down and products improve. Right now, 3D printers are fairly new tech, but the industry is rapidly evolving. Right now, a new printer for building homes can cost between $300,000 and one million.

The largest project currently is set for Austin, Texas, with two companies on board, Lennar, a homebuilding company, and ICON, a construction firm that specializes in 3D technology. One hundred single story homes will be built in the "world's largest" community of 3D printed homes. The hope is that this type of housing may be an answer to homelessness and disaster relief because they can be built rapidly for less cost with less labor.

In John Day, construction is expected to start in late spring of this year, with 10-12 homes available by the end of the year. They have received some grant funding and are pursuing more.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING LEGISLATIVE AMENDMENT – LA 2021-01

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the following dates, the Willamina Planning Commission and City Council will conduct public hearings on file no. LA 2021-01. These public hearings will take place by Zoom meeting platform. The public may participate by phone or computer. Log-in details are posted on the City's website at least one week in advance of the meetings.

•Planning Commission - Tuesday, February 22, 2022 at 6pm.

•City Council - Tuesday, March 8, 2022 at 6pm.

A legislative amendment is an action taken by the City to amend adopted plans or policies, following public notice and public hearings. This Legislative Amendment is for the adoption of the updated Willamina Transportation System Plan (TSP) as an addendum to the Willamina Comprehensive Plan. The Willamina TSP is a plan to address current and future transportation needs in the City. The TSP documents solutions to these needs, including a mix of physical improvements to streets and sidewalks, and changes to City policy and programs. The TSP updates the 1997 Willamina TSP with an emphasis on improving connections and safety conditions for all travelers — including those who drive, walk, bicycle, use a wheelchair or cane, or deliver freight. The TSP also addresses street improvements along Highway OR 18B, promoting this section of roadway as Willamina's Main Street. My 6th birthday was the first one I ever celebrated. My little friend's mother came to my grandmother and said since the girls are only two days apart, let's have cake for them in the classroom. Mine was blue frosting, hers was pink frosting.

She came to school the next day wearing new Mary Janes (white). I came to school also wearing new Mary Janes (black). At recess, we went to the outhouse to try on each other shoes. The outhouse door swung open and a tall 8-year-old girl was standing there looking at us. We both have one shoe off and the other shoe on. The 8-year-old grabbed my shoe up and threw it in the toilet and ran off.

They had to call someone to pick me up. I can't walk the gravel road home, plus I know what I'm going to get when I get there. Sure enough, I get it. Why were your shoes off to begin with? Well, don't little girls try on others' clothes and shoes, etc.? Well, anyway, that mean-spirited woman still exists, and to this day I avoid her.

This wonderfully updated home is a great option for your family, or someone looking to downsize. The vaulted ceilings and lot's of natural light provide a great place to relax and spend time with the family. The home sits in a quiet neighborhood and has a fenced in backyard. New A/C installed in 2018 means this home will be comfortable year round. NO flood insurance required here. HURRY this one won't be around long, $365,000.

Thanks, Mary Jane! We loved your unique "Warm Fuzzy." That fuzzy little guy is soooo cute. We appreciate your thoughtfulness! MT and SC

The City of Sheridan has hundreds of manhole covers, said Public Works Director Kie Cottam. He estimated that the somewhat unusual one shown above was installed in the 1990s. He noted that cities normally place these in areas of concern, but medallions are more commonly used nowadays.

Timber Town USA...I like that a lot, but I was thinking the other day that with everything changing so much, what would be a good nickname for our town IF we had to change it for some reason. Any ideas? I'd vote for Truck Town USA. Do you have any idea just how many trucks roll through our town on weekdays? I'm talking BIG trucks...not pickups or small delivery types. An average of one every 75 to 90 seconds roll through the Main Street and Willamina Creek Road intersection. I was amazed when I started counting, timing, and averaging. You could have knocked me over with a feather.

They're not always loaded or empty. Sometimes it's the same loaded truck going to the mill and coming back through empty, only to return a few hours later, loaded, to be counted again. (No, I don't think that's cheating.)

No, I didn't spend my day sitting on the curb and counting. I counted them while I rang the Salvation Army bell at the IGA market during December.

Being amazed at the number of 18-wheelers that roll through town is "What's Up in Willamina."
