Sheridan Council Convenes Emergency Meeting Regarding South Side Park Grant

Last Thursday, City Manager Heidi Bell called an emergency meeting with Sheridan City Council members to seek approval of a resolution authorizing the City of Sheridan to apply for a local government grant from the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department. The City would use the grant funds to develop Sheridan's South Side Park. The council's approval delegates authority to the city manager to sign the grant application. If the grant application to Oregon Parks and Recreation is successful, the City will use the funds for several improvements and additions to South Side Park. Park additions would include two 20'x20' picnic shelters with six heavy-duty picnic tables in each shelter. One shelter would be built near the play structures, making it a great place to host children's birthday parties. The grant would allow the construction of permanent restroom facilities.

The walking path would be upgraded with an asphalt surface, making it ADA-friendly and possibly providing a place for kids to ride their bikes. In addition, health-based signage would be placed around the path. The park's 30,000 sq. ft. parking lot would be paved, and bollards connected with heavy chains would be installed between the parking lot and the park.

The grant would provide a large dog park with an obstacle course and a disc golf course. Disc golf is a game in which a plastic disc is thrown into each of a series of metal baskets situated on an outdoor course, the object being to complete the course using the fewest possible throws.

The City also intends to plant more than 30 trees, some around the fishing pond, to maintain the site's fish and wildlife habitat. Bird watching and wildlife viewing opportunities near the lagoon are a part of the grant request.

The grant that the City is applying for tops out at $750,000. City Manager Heidi Bell said the total costs of Sheridan's proposed projects are close to this amount. As part of the matching grant requirements, Sheridan will use asphalt millings donated to the City by the County. This material has been stored at Sheridan Public Works, waiting for a good use to come along. Labor may be the primary means for Sheridan to provide the match. Work the city staff devotes to the project can be attributed to the match requirement. Once the project gets underway, volunteer options will become available.

The park size would increase from about 24 acres to 30 acres. The council passed the resolution unanimously.

The deadline to submit the grant proposal was Friday, the day following the meeting. Whether or not the City of Sheridan will receive the grant will not be known until October.

ODF&W: Fish are Hungry and Available

The Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife has offered the following information for your upcoming fishing trip. All north and mid-coast stocking locations have been stocked this year. Fish are hungry and available. Time to go fishing. Steelhead are still being caught daily in the Nestucca and Wilson rivers.

The Middle and Upper Rogue are seeing regular steelhead action. Fresh winter and down runners have been caught. There are also half-pounders available. Lost Creek Lake has been fishing well for trout. The addition of 15,000 legal trout last week should result in easy limits. Anglers report pretty good striped bass fishing in the Coquille Basin, Smith River and mainstream Umpqua. Anglers are catching bottom-fish off the Coos Bay jetties. Red tail surf perch fishing has been very good on southern Oregon beaches like Horsfall and Bullards. The Hood River is seeing a great return of winter steelhead this season. Fishing for holdover rainbow trout in Krumbo Reservoir has been good. Trout fishing on the lower Owyhee has been good recently with some anglers averaging five trout per hour. Anglers have been successful fishing the Powder River arm of Brownlee Reservoir for bass, trout and perch.

Meet Bob Luoto, Candidate for Yamhill County Commissioner

Bob Luoto is running for Yamhill County Commissioner. He is one of five contenders for the seat to be vacated by Casey Kulla.

Bob's residence address is in McMinnville, but his business address is in Carlton.

He graduated from Yamhill-Carlton High School in 1970, earned a two-year degree from Lower Columbia College, then transferred to Washington State University, earning a four-year degree.

A contract logger, he has been working in Yamhill County for more than 45 years.

In 1976, together with his parents, the family launched Luoto Logging, Inc., in Carlton. In 1998 his dad retired and gave Bob and his brother each a part of the business. He then started Cross and Crown, Inc., which he has operated ever since.

With Covid, the higher price of gas, and difficulty finding employees, Bob said he's been more focused on selling equipment and helping people with timberland management.

At one time he had 45 people working for him and had a fleet of 11 log trucks. He has considerable experience working with area mills.

Bob has one son, one daughter, and six grandchildren. Both of his kids are McMinnville High School graduates. His daughter earned her degree from Azusa University and is now lives in Kirkland, Wash. She is a Church of the Nazarene pastor and works as a fundraiser for "All God's Children," an adoption agency. Bob's son graduated from Oregon State University and now lives in Illinois.

After considerable contemplation, Bob decided to run for county commissioner. He said he's lived in the county all his life and didn't like the way county politics were going, noting the recall effort and the divisiveness. He feels he can do better than that. He realizes county politics will never be perfect but feels he can make things a lot better. He believes that through reasoning and compromise solutions that will benefit Yamhill County people can be found.

Being in the logging business most of his life, he has spent a lot of time in the West Valley. He said he knows more people around here than most places. He feels he has a good rapport with loggers and farmers and people who live in rural areas saying, "I think I know where they're at. As a county commissioner, I would be here."

He said, "I'm not really a city boy; I'm a country boy and a logger."

He said, "If elected, I'm not going to forget where I came from. I will make sure the West Valley is not forgotten."

Bob brings a host of accomplishments and demonstrated leadership skills to his campaign. His business, Luoto Logging, Inc., was awarded the Northwest Oregon Area Operator of the Year for a job that protected streams and water resources in an exemplary way.

His commitment to safety was recognized in 1990 when he was appointed by the governor to a two-year term on the State Advisory Board for Occupational Safety and Health.

He was elected president of the Associated Oregon Loggers in 1995-96. He was recognized by his peers in 2001 as the association's Logger of the Year for taking an active role in community, state, and national efforts to promote professional forest management practices.

Bob served on the board of directors for the American Logger's Council and was president in 2002. The council represents contract logging in 30 states.

He served on the National Board of Sustainable Forestry Initiatives beginning in 2008 and was elected vice-chairman in 2010. He served as the SFI chairman of the board in 2011 and 2012. In that capacity, he oversaw the certification of more than 250 million acres of forest land in the United States and Canada as being sustainably managed.

Bob has testified in Congress for small business owners; served on the Paul Bunyan Foundation board; and contributed time and energy to produce television advertisements for the Oregon Forest Resources Institute to promote Oregon's forest protection laws and the protection of fish, water, and wildlife.

Bob said his goal is to make Yamhill County a success.

Memories:

Souvenirs our hearts collect throughout the years.

Contributed by a Bulletin Board Guest Writer

I'm a hairstylist at this resort at the beach. My little sister is 15. She has lived with me since I was 18, I am now 20.

We both have good jobs and a cute apartment. We can walk to work. She goes to school and then does rooms after school. For some reason my ladies like to tip me with a drink called "Pink Ladies." My boss likes it though, since I'm underage. She enjoys them.

We have a very upscale restaurant out of Portland on the premises. The family who owns it lives at the beach and they have a grandson who has a crush on my little sister, which is great for her. She gets to go to the lovely restaurant.

It is important to my story because we have a slim budget for food. Since we were raised on a farm we ate lots of beans, so it was in our budget a couple of times a week. Someone told us in order to take the gas out of the beans to soak them in soda. We did but they didn't tell us to rinse the soda out before cooking them. We took a bite and spit. Now we have no dinner.

As luck would have it for her, she got invited out to dinner. I then remembered all the purses I ruined bringing home half of my steak for her when I was invited out. Well, wish as I may, it didn't occur to her. "Mental telepathy." Nada!

"The White House Easter Egg Roll" event has been celebrated by the President of the United States and their families since 1878.

State of Oregon Student Essay Contest Announced

Oregon Secretary of State Shemia Fagan announced last Thursday the start of the Oregon Blue Book Student Essay Contest. The theme for the 2023-2024 Oregon Blue Book is, "Oregon Students Share Their Pandemic Experience." Students are encouraged to submit written or video essays.

"The Oregon Blue Book is our state's official almanac and fact book. Each edition captures a snapshot in time for Oregon with information about Ore-gon's economy, population and elected officials," said Oregon Secretary of State Shemia Fagan. "Given how the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted so many aspects of life for all of us, it's my hope that this essay will give students a voice to express their own experience navigating a global pandemic."

Elementary and middle-school aged students are encouraged to submit written or video essays. Written essays must be 100-300 words and will include an illustration to go with the essay. Video essays must be two minutes or less. Contest rules and submission information can be found at <https://sos.oregon.gov/blue-book/Pages/essay-contest.aspx>. The contest is open until Thursday, Oct. 20, 2022. Winners will be announced in January 2023.

"I'm looking forward to watching and reading thoughtful essays from Oregon students about this unique moment in Oregon's history," said Stephanie Clark, Oregon State Archivist.

The Oregon Blue Book has been published since 1911. The Oregon Secretary of State's Archives Division manages and publishes the book, which is released biennially on each odd-numbered year. The 2023-2024 edition of the Oregon Blue Book is scheduled to be released in February 2023. More information about the Oregon Blue Book can be found here: <https://sos.oregon.gov>.

Deryal D. Thompson

April 15, 1929 - March 15, 2022

Deryal D. Thompson passed away peacefully on March 15, 2022, at a hospice care facility in Salem.

Deryal was born on April 15, 1929 in Bremerton, Wash., to Harvey and Lorena Thompson. He was a kind and patient man who spread joy and happiness wherever he went. Deryal was an outdoorsman who enjoyed fishing and working around his property. He also enjoyed bowling, watching sports and old western movies.

Deryal is survived by his wife, Beverly (Hulett) Thompson; their children, numerous siblings and siblings-in-law and many nieces and nephews.

In lieu of cards or flowers, the family of Deryal would like to invite you to make a donation to Meals on Wheels in his honor. To donate, go to: www.mealsonwheelsamerica.org and select "Donate in Honor of Someone" and follow the instructions. A celebration of life will be announced at a later date.

Americans spend $1.9 billion on Easter candy. That's the second biggest candy holiday after Halloween.

Michael "Mikie" Gephart 1969-2022

Mike passed away peacefully on March 18, 2022, from his battle with brain cancer. He was 52-years-old.

Born August 9, 1969, in Glendora, Calif., to Gordon and Christina Gephart.

Mike and Angie welcomed their first child, Tiffany, in 1986. They married in June of 1988 and welcomed their son Noah in 1989.

The couple divorced in 1996. Years later, Mike remarried and gained two stepdaughters.

Mike was known for his famous blackberry pie, which became a family tradition.

He loved fishing, hunting, spending time with his grandchildren, and even working in the yard. He was always finding projects to do or complete.

He and his family enjoyed a fun-filled Memorial Day fishing trip annually, where they would fish, camp out, and enjoy family time. At a young age, Mike took an interest in electrical work and later became an electrician. He was kind and patient, which made him a good teacher for apprentice and journeymen electricians. Mike is survived by his daughter, Tiffany Brewster, and son, Noah Gephart.

He is also survived by four Gephart grandchildren, with another on the way.

He leaves behind his mother, Christina, siblings Terry, Timothy, Johnny, Jason, Amy, and several nieces, nephews, and cousins.

"Mike lived his life to the fullest," his family writes. "We will all carry him on with all our memories, traditions, and of course, we can't forget fishing."

A celebration of life will be held on April 16, 2022. Family and friends will gather from noon-4 p.m. at Henry Hagg Lake in the Sain Creek Pavilion.

WHAT'S UP IN WILLAMINA
 by mary jane

Ahhh... Spring is on the march. Have you see all those pretty little yellow flowers showing their color in almost everyone's lawn? I know. Most people don't like them, but I think they're kind of pretty and a nice harbinger of spring.

I'll bet you've heard of "dandelion wine." Did you know they also make good jelly? Don't knock it 'til you've tried it. A friend of mine gave me some last year. Yummy. I'll have to try and talk her into giving me the recipe. One thing about dandelions.... they're super easy to grow. They don't require watering and they really don't require any weeding! That's my kind of plant.

Enjoying the nuisance of dandelions is "What's Up in Willamina."

Yamhill County Historical Society Presents: Secrets of the Past

Join the Yamhill County Historical Society and learn about the unique people, places, and events at this "Secrets of the Past" series set to begin at 6-7:30 p.m. on April 19 at the Yamhill Valley Heritage Center, 11275 SW Durham Lane in McMinnville.

Local historian Kory Knutz will speak on "Choo Choo Trains, Cheats, and Shenanigans." Who built the first railroads in Yamhill County? Why were they built and where? To what lengths did their builders go to achieve their goals? Who won and who lost in the process?

Kory will share details about the development of rail infrastructure across the county and the dramatic backdrop of questionable decisions and attempts to swindle that characterized this period of the county's history. The program is free for Yamhill County Historical Society members; $5 for guests.

From Pianos to Boulders, 'The Claw' Can Move It

Mark Pauletto, owner and operator of My Hauler with Claw, LLC, made a presentation about his specialized truck at the Rotary Club meeting held last week at the Monroe Event Center in Sheridan.

Mark explained that he grew up on a 750-acre ranch in Umpqua, Ore. He said you learn to improvise and find ways to do things on a ranch. For example, he said he thought of this claw-type lifter 40 years ago. He wanted a small flatbed with a loader to pick up and haul heavy objects long distances.

He showed Rotary members a photo layout of his invention, "the Claw," to illustrate a few of the many tasks he and the machine can tackle. The claw can pick up heavy objects (up to one ton), which include hot tubs, landscaping boulders, logs, fencing, old junk cars, stump removal, and pianos, to name a few.

Mark uses a 16-foot hydraulic lifting arm attached to his truck (equipped with two stabilizers) to reach over fences and other obstacles. "The Claw" grabs and lifts the heavy object and sets it on his flatbed truck, ready for disposal or delivery, whichever the customer needs.

When placing boulders for landscaping, Mark can rotate them 360 degrees so he can set them down with their best sides showing.

He said he removed a hot tub from a fenced backyard by reaching over the fence with the claw. He said it is unnecessary to remove fencing, and there will be no track marks tearing up the yard and destroying landscaping. (And, with a laugh, he swore no one was in the hot tub, and the customer had emptied the water.)

He removed a 30-foot flagpole after a dump truck backed into it so the concrete base could be repaired, then put the pole back up.

He picks up logs and can remove and take away big dangerous branches.

He can go to the quarry, pick out the large rocks he wants, make sure they look good.

He combined a trip to the coast to turn some statues for one person and removed some burnt spruce trees for another. He combined their travel charges to save both customers a few bucks.

Need something large picked up and moved? Call Mark at 503-662-2267.

Mark Pauletto shows Rotarians a few examples of large items he can move using his flatbed truck equipped with 'the claw.'

Coming Marriage Brings a "Rain"

The coming marriage of Miss Jessie Turnidge and Earl Chandler gave the friends of the couple an opportunity for a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at Miss Jessie's home. Hayrack Party Held

The early departure of Cecil Chapman for American Lake where he goes to report for duty was the occasion for an old-time get-together party last Saturday evening. Through the kindness of Allen Hibler, who with his mother and aunt were host and hostesses to the party of between twenty and thirty young people on the farm along the river two miles west of Sheridan. The transportation served to turn the affair into a hayrack party. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shortridge presided as chaperones of the trip. On the farm, a huge bonfire illuminated the scene of the evening's festivities.

Was Some Flounder, So Frank Thought

Frank Graves has a fish story to tell. It concerns the huge flounder which Frank says George Sargeant caught. But the joke is on Frank. The two went over near Taft the other day on an outing, Earl Chandler motoring them over. One fine day a huge flounder in the possession of a lad gave George an idea. Purchasing the fish he attached it to his hook, tossed it in the river, began a strenuous tugging, and called to Frank for help. Along came Frank, gave George a lift, and the flounder was landed. The rest of the week was spent by Frank in the vain endeavor to land a flounder as big as that one George caught. The two came back last Thursday night when Earl and his sister, Miss Altha, autoed over to Rose Lodge and returned with them. Earl left the farm below Sheridan a little after three in the afternoon, went to Rose Lodge, spent an hour or more, and was back again in the garage and home by ten, which is one of the fastest trips on record for the Siletz road.

He Fishes 14 Days Earns Just $322.79

Paul Kininnook, the young Alaskan who graduated from Carlisle and Chemawa and was engaged in logging near Sheridan this last spring went to Alaska this summer to engage in salmon fishing, writes Geo. Epley, Sheridan, telling of the splendid wages the salmon industry pays. He writes:

Row Point, Alaska
 "Have been so busy since I came home. I am engineering one of my uncle's boats. I have been working 14 days and have already earned $322.79 and there is still a month's fishing for us. The run is not big but the price is good. I am enjoying Alaska rains and I am in good health. My wife is doing equally as well. She is staying with my sister. They are working in a cannery for 30¢ an hour. In two weeks she earned over fifty dollars. Soon as the fishing is over I am going pile logging with my brother-in-law."
