Deputies Arrest Sheridan Shooter

Shortly after 5 a.m. on Dec. 14, a Yamhill County Sheriff's Deputy on duty in Sheridan heard multiple gunshots in the city. Shortly afterward, the deputy received a call regarding a weapons complaint in the 200 block of NW Sherman Street.

The deputy learned an individual came to the residence, broke out two vehicle's windows, and removed items from the vehicles. The person then brandished a 9mm handgun which he pointed at another individual while threatening to shoot him. The suspect fired at least six shots from the handgun, all in the vicinity of occupied dwellings.

Deputies collected evidence, conducted interviews, and identified the individual suspected to be responsible for the incident.

Deputies worked throughout the day following leads and conducting surveillance. At approximately 3:30 p.m. Stephen Tyler

Lindsey, age 22, was arrested in Grand Ronde and lodged in the Yamhill County Jail on the following charges: Unlawful Use of a Weapon, Menacing, Recklessly Endangering Another, Theft 3rd Degree, Unlawful Entry into a Motor Vehicle (two counts), Theft 2nd Degree (two counts) and Criminal Mischief 2nd Degree (two counts).

Deputies would like to speak to those who have additional information about this incident or anyone who may have any video, audio, or photos associated with this incident. Call Yamhill Communications at 503-434-6500 and reference case number 22-3805.

The Yamhill County Sheriff's Office received assistance from Oregon State Police, Polk County Sheriff's Office, McMinnville Police Department, and Grand Ronde Tribal Police Department.

WHAT'S UP IN WILLAMINA

by mary jane

In Memory of Travis Taylor

By Wendy and Jacob Giddings

Have you ever attended a sporting event and the scoreboard doesn't work? A fully functional scoreboard makes it easier for spectators to follow the game. Players and coaches can benefit from this information as well. Sheridan High School's baseball scoreboard has seen better days. It's faded and peeling, and not all bulbs light up anymore. In addition, it is so outdated that spare parts cannot be ordered anymore.

Jacob Giddings is a senior at Sheridan High School and is the starting catcher for the baseball team. To graduate this year, he must complete a senior project. The project is an opportunity to complete a project connected to the community or school.

He has chosen to replace the high school baseball scoreboard for his project. This is a massive project and has been talked about in the past, but it has yet to be successfully completed. He wants to be the person to finish it. He chose this as his project because he loves to play baseball and would like future baseball players to be proud to be a Spartan.

Currently, the field is dedicated to SHS 1992 alumni Travis Taylor. Jacob's mother went to school with Travis and said he was an outstanding athlete. Jacob would like to complete this project as soon as possible so there can be a ceremony and re-dedicate the field in Travis' honor.

The purchase price of the scoreboard is $7,500. This amount does not reflect the removal and disposal of the old scoreboard or the installation. Please support Jacob with a donation or volunteer services so he can purchase and install a new and improved baseball scoreboard. Here is how to contribute to his success: You can donate at First Federal and let the teller know or make a note in the memo section: Jacob Sr. Project. Sheridan Education Foundation acts as Jacob Giddings' fiscal agent, so your donation can be tax deductible: EIN 30-0685163.

A Message from the Sheridan Superintendent

Dear Sheridan Families,

This last week we wrapped up our School Health Services Planning grant, a six-month process that included a comprehensive needs assessment. The Planning Committee, consisting of parents, staff, and community members, recommended the Sheridan School Board pursue a nursing model for our school-based health services.

The Committee selected the nursing model over the health center model due to our local data and the best fit for meeting our community's health and wellness needs.

The next phase, beginning in January, is for implementation. During this phase, the District will design our nursing model program and use the grant funds to hire an additional nurse.

Our current District Nurse, Alanna Russell, has a caseload of 107 students with health medical protocols. This includes students who are medically complex or medically fragile and require specially trained staff to be with them during the school day. Alanna teaches the team and monitors the implementation of medical health plans. In addition, she works closely with our families and medical providers to see that students have what they need to access learning during the school day. Alanna also promotes good health by arranging special clinics, teaching classroom lessons, and conducting medical screenings.

The increase in nursing will assist our students and families with accessing health services and potentially bringing services to the schools. This may include dental and vision services and behavioral health services. The nursing model will also focus on community health, assisting the District with communication regarding regional health concerns such as substance abuse prevention, community health concerns, and overall wellness education.

I greatly appreciate Alanna Russell's knowledge and skills that serve so many of our students and their families! In the future, our grant funds will provide additional nursing hours, someone to work with Alanna and increase our capacity to promote health and wellness throughout the community.

As the District closes for winter break, our staff will enjoy some much-needed time off. The last few weeks have been challenging, with so many staff and students out sick. However, the Sheridan School District staff have stepped up amazingly to cover for colleagues, keeping our schools open during the continued substitute staff shortage. Many thanks and appreciation to our custodians, cooks, office staff, instructional assistants, teachers, and administrators!

Let it glow, let it glow, let it glow ... While patrons at the Riverside Cafe were concerned last Tuesday that the City of Sheridan's Public Works crew were taking down the Christmas lights, they were actually adding more lights. In fact, they were installing Edison lights that will remain in the plaza year-around. Edison lights are modern, reproduction bulbs that harken back to the very first light bulb made by Thomas Edison in 1879: a glass vacuum globe that lets you see through to the filament inside. Where the original incandescent bulbs used carbon filaments, the modern versions uses a filament with a thin LED strip. The result is a modern take on an old classic. These lights can change color and flash. For example, explained Public Works Supervisor Kenny Peterson, the lights can be red for Christmas, but later changed to green for St. Patrick's Day, etc.

WILLAMINA CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

FROM THE DESK OF WILLAMINA CITY MANAGER BRIDGET MENELEY

"If you change the way you look at things, the things you look at change."

-- Wayne Dyer

Introduction: City Manager Bridget Meneley

I want to introduce myself as your Willamina City Manager. Willamina has been home for multiple generations in my family. It's my hometown and where my children call home as well. I have spent most of my career in high-level management positions, human resources, and project management. I started working for local municipalities approximately five years ago. Before accepting the City Manager position, I served the community as the deputy city recorder/planning clerk. I absolutely love our City, and I am very excited to work with our City Council, City staff, and amazing leadership in neighboring towns and communities.

I look forward to moving our current projects forward and exploring new opportunities for community growth & improvements. Sarah Frost, Interim City Manager, said it best, "it takes a community to build community," and we hope to continue building a stronger Willamina with the support of the amazing people who make this our home.

Willamina City Council:

At the December City Council meeting, Mayor Burr and Council Wooden were recognized for their years of service. In addition, Sarah Frost, Willamina's interim city manager, was shown appreciation for her work as she transitions back to her role as library director.

City business included a review of the annual financial report and audit; City Council motioned and accepted the audit results to submit to the State. City Manager Bridget Meneley was appointed Budget Officer. The City Council also adopted Resolution 22-23-008, accepting the Certified Election Results. A staff report was presented to administer a temporary wage increase for the outgoing Interim City Manager based on her job performance.

The next regular City Council meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 10, held at West Valley Fire District and via Zoom. At this meeting, we will swear in Mayor-elect Councilor Skyberg and elected Council members Kyle Klym, Jennifer Pederson, and Vickie Hernandez.

Willamina Public Library:

The library is closed for its winter break from Dec. 22 through Jan. 1. Winter Programs: 11 a.m. on Tuesdays – Story Time with Ms. Pam and Ms. Meredith. Beginning in January: 11 a.m.-3 p.m. on the fourth Saturday is Library Programming Day. Table-top games, collaboration, trading card games, art, and more. You can enjoy the library space and all it has to offer.

Our next Library Board Meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 17, at the library via Zoom. We welcome you to join us and learn about our upcoming projects.

Nanette "Grandma" LaRue: A Life Lived Generously

Nanette I. (Jetton) LaRue
June 1938-Dec. 2022

With immense sadness, the family shares the news of the sudden passing of Nanette LaRue.

Nanette was born in 1938 to Martin and Helen (Robertson) Jetton. She later married Owen LaRue, and in 1967 her family moved to Oregon so that she could be near her parents.

She began working at a young age and developed a strong work ethic. She showed little interest in slowing down and retiring. Her daughter, Lynette (LaRue) Donnelly, said she ran an in-home daycare for years and often wouldn't take payment to help struggling families. In the 1980s, she worked in the laundry room and kitchen at Faulconer Chapman School (FCS). She later became an instructional assistant at FCS. She was generous with her time and often donated items when she saw a need. After she finally retired, she continued to run circles around many others.

Nanette once watched a show on television about a couple in Alaska who had been delivering food to people who lived on a small island nearby. When their boat needed repairs, they asked the public to help fix it so they could continue providing food to the islanders. When Nanette saw this, her daughter remembered that she immediately sent them a check to help.

She often asked neighbors with gardens (if she saw they had fruits or vegetables that were not being eaten) if she could share some of it with those in need. Then, she would preserve the produce and give it to the homeless or anyone she thought might need it.

She volunteered at the Golden Kitchen (at one time a Sheridan senior meal site), preparing and serving meals for the elderly.

Nanette loved children. Tim Hart, who worked with and knew Nanette for about 25 years, said that many children who attended FCS would affectionately call her "Grandma" or "Rue."

Tim remembered that she was always ready to take the kids out for recess, rain or shine, no matter the weather. Tim said the faculty wanted to recognize Nanette's support for the school and community about 20 years ago, so they voted to name the FCS eighth-grade citizenship award in her honor. He said she never handed out the award herself because she was never one to seek recognition.

"She only did what was right for the kids," he said, "She was always there for all kids, and she really was Grandma to so many kids in the town."

Over the years, she had more than a hundred foster kids. DHS often placed kids with Nanette, or she saw a need in the community and provided temporary shelter.

Her daughter noted that she always knew when a kid needed something.

Her daughter said she was active in her kids, foster kids, and grandchildren's lives. She took the time to teach them and always tried to lead by example.

According to her daughter, she wasn't keen on public speaking. Still, she spoke to the Sheridan City Council, along with others from the Sheridan Community Youth Organization, about the importance of allowing chickens to be raised in Sheridan.

She believed chickens were an excellent tool for a child's development. She used the chickens to teach the kids how to care for animals, raise animals, and foster a good work ethic.

She was highly active in the Sheridan Church of the Nazarene. Her daughter said she could usually find her at church seven days a week. She did various tasks at the church, including youth group leadership and secretary, among other jobs. She inspired many of her youth group kids to become youth group leaders themselves.

Friends and family noted that there are no words to do her justice, saying she will be missed beyond words and that they take comfort in knowing that she is with the Lord, her husband, and her son, Terry. She is survived by her children, Valerie (Tim) Holsclaw, Victor (Lucinda) LaRue, and Lynette (Todd) Donnelly; as well as seven grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild.

BEAST/BEAUTY NOVA: Jim Malo, a retired heavy machine operator, purchased this 1962 nova about eight years ago. It started life with a 6-cylinder engine and a two-speed transmission. The car was in rough shape, requiring a new floor, quarter panel, and other bodywork. Then it was painted a stunning cream and two-tone blue color. The car now sports a 427 small block engine, 350 turbo transmission (with 4500 stall converter), and a 9-inch Ford rear-end (with 4:41 gears). Power is planted to the ground with 9X28 slicks. Front control is handled by a HEIDTS front end. Kathy, Jim's wife, doesn't use this car to get groceries, as it is very fast, turning 130 miles per hour at 7,000 rpms on the quarter-mile track. Competition better look out for this Beauty of a Beast Nova. Submitted by Gary Meyer.)

City Council Shows Staff Appreciation, New City Manager And Reviews Audit

The Willamina City Council welcomed two new members, whose names will soon be added to the website, even as Mayor Burr and Councilor April Wooden had their last session. A portion of the meeting celebrated members who have served faithfully, showing them how much their hard work and dedication is appreciated.

Presented to Mayor Burr, Councilor Wooden, and Sarah Frost, who has been serving as interim city manager, were wooden plaques in the shape of the state of Oregon made by a local artist, a gift basket, and heartfelt words of thanks. Additionally, the Council approved a retroactive raise for Sarah after seeing how hard she worked.

The City is also celebrating Bridget Meneley as the new city manager. Check out the City of Willamina's Facebook page, which has her letter to the City and other news.

Business at the meeting also included an audit report from Richard Winkel as he went over essential points in the 50-page official document. This audit is a requirement of the state of Oregon. Revenue was slightly down, and fees went up a little, but 1.6 million in grants went a long way to provide better services for residents. The audit will soon be available to the public. Kathy Taylor was also present and voiced her support for Winkel's work. She has decades of experience as a CPA for many different cities, and she stated that the City of Willamina is doing well in how it handles its finances.

As members gave their reports, Mayor Burr said there would be a tour of the holiday light displays around town, a toy drive, and a blanket drive. Again, the City's Facebook page and this paper are good sources of information for upcoming events and what's happening in Willamina. The City is looking for bell ringers if anyone needs volunteer time to get onto Santa's Nice list. The library is seeking a location for a new library building. For inspiration, blueprints from the past are being used. They can apply for a 1.4 million dollar grant to fund the project, which will supply new, updated technology and more services for the public, such as classes, meetings, and more opportunities for the community. Don't forget: your library is a vital resource; it can be a starting point when someone needs assistance and doesn't know where to go. The meeting ended with Mayor Burr, a Councilor for six years before becoming Mayor for two years, voicing his gratitude to the City. He said that he had been happy to serve, to give back to the community that means so much to him and his family. He observed that he had always been impressed with the City Council and had never seen any "back-biting," bickering, or raised voices. "It has been an absolute pleasure to work with all of you and the city staff," he said.

Hundreds Greet Santa At Opening

Santa Claus rode into town Saturday--not in his traditional sleigh drawn by eight prancing reindeer--but astride a shining red mechanical charger which bore him slowly down the street to the lusty cheers of a multitude of youthful throats.

The bewhiskered and genial old gentleman from the North Pole made his grand entry into Sheridan this year perched on top of a fire truck graciously loaned for the occasion by Sheridan fire department. Last year Santa Claus arrived in Sheridan via The Journal's helicopter, for his annual chat and powwow with the small fry about their heart's desires for Christmas.

Visit Huge Success

No one could dispute that Santa Claus' visit was anything less than an overwhelming success if the measure was to be taken from the number of youngsters who were on hand to receive him. And no one, including Santa Claus, could say the army of young admirers failed one iota to give old St. Nick the rousing, clamoring, good natured welcome he could naturally expect to receive from a group of youthful and expectant fans.

Bridge street was literally choked with children on both sides south from the bridge past the business district, all eager for a first hand glimpse of the familiar and venerable figure who manages somehow to accomplish such miraculous feats on Christmas eve.

Parks Sleigh

Santa Claus left his sleigh and reindeer at the fire station to recover from the long fatiguing trip from the cold region while he made his triumphant tour down the street. He rode south along Bridge street as far as the railroad tracks where he dismounted and worked his way back laboriously amid scores of howling youngsters all elbowing vigorously to get up close enough to tell St. Nick the little speech which had been carefully planned--and for the candy.

The old gentleman gave away around 200 pounds of mixed candy and nuts to the youngsters while holding brief private conferences one after another. When his pre-Christmas visit was over, he left for his distant home again to go over final plans before he makes that big annual visit on Christmas eve.

Part of Big Opening

The visit of Santa Claus was arranged by Sheridan chamber of commerce as part of the big Christmas opening which was officially ushered in Saturday. The town was appropriately decorated for the occasion with plenty of yuletide paraphernalia.

The window unveiling and hunt for the hidden dollar bills was held Friday night, and brought out considerable numbers of people despite the nippy weather and chilly rain.

A public address system has been set up with loud speakers on a pole at the foot of the bridge for broadcasting holiday season music. This project and the decoration of the bridge were carried out by Sheridan fire department.

Legion, Auxiliary Send Out Baskets

The Christmas party given jointly Dec. 22, by the Post and Unit was a most enjoyable affair. More and more these second meetings of the month are attracting not only members, but others who are eligible but who have not yet joined the organization.

Mrs. John Hendricks was general chairman for the Unit and Marvin Humphries was chairman for the Post.

Several forms of entertainment were enjoyed and generous refreshments suitable to the Christmas season were served at the close of the party.

Rules For Hidden Dollar Bill Game

Here are detailed rules of the "hidden dollar bill" contest as announced by C. Wayne Flynn who is in charge of the project:

1. Guess total number of dollar bills found in all decorated store windows in Sheridan.
2. List number of bills counted separately in these store windows: Luther Hyder's, S&W supplies, and K&R Hardware.
3. Hours of the contest will be in at Stage Depot Cafe by 10 p.m.
5. Each contestant is entitled to only one guess.
6. Prize money will be divided in case of a tie.
7. A list of these rules will be posted in the windows of Sheridan Mercantile company and Earhart's Sporting Goods store.
8. Dr. B. J. Miller, Vern Markee, and Leland Sackett will act as judges. Winners will be announced in next week's issue of the Sheridan Sun.

Mr. Flynn said the reason for having contestants guess the number of bills in the three specific stores named was to eliminate the possibility of ties in the over all number guessed. There were several people who guessed the correct number last year and the prize money had to be split several ways.
