A MESSAGE FROM THE WILLAMINA SCHOOL DISTRICT

This morning I had the pleasure of listening to several middle and high school students present the "What it means to be a Bulldog" project. Over the course of the past nine weeks our grades 6-12 students developed a project that represented what being a Bulldog means to them.

All students worked on this endeavor, and a few from each advisory group were chosen to present to the staff. Projects included; a video of the CTE shop transformation, a 3-D Bulldog, an electrical system, a video of Homecoming spirit week, a "Zine", and many more.

Students gave three minute presentations explaining their projects. The common theme to being a Bulldog... belonging! Overwhelmingly students spoke of being part of a community that supports their ideas and individuality. What a great way to start the week and day!

November is often referred to as "No School November" in addition to the end of the first grading period, which brings about grading day and family conferences, we also celebrate Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. Two very important days to remember and be grateful for.

This year I am more grateful than ever for working in the Willamina School District and having students back on campus full time! As tough as the last two years have been, our community, families, staff, and students have been amazing.

To all of our Veterans: family, friends, and alumni....THANK YOU FOR YOUR SERVICE, you bring a source of pride to our community that makes this a great place to live and thrive!

With great Bulldog pride,
Carrie Zimbrick, Superintendent

Cheesy Garlic Pull-Apart Bread

INGREDIENTS

- 1 large baguette
- 1 stick butter, melted
- 6 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tbsp. freshly chopped parsley
- Kosher salt
- Freshly ground black pepper
- 1 c. shredded mozzarella
- 1 c. shredded fontina

DIRECTIONS

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Using a serrated knife, cross-hatch baguette, making slices every inch in both directions and making sure to not slice all the way through the bottom of baguette.

In a small bowl, stir together melted butter, garlic, and parsley. Season with salt and pepper. Brush baguette with melted butter mixture, making sure to get inside crosshatches.

Stuff each crosshatch with mozzarella and fontina and wrap bread completely in foil.

Bake until cheese is melted and bread is warm and toasty, about 20 minutes.

Let cool 5 minutes, then serve as is or with a dipping sauce such as marinara, or melted garlic butter.

Memories:

Souvenirs our hearts collect throughout the years.

Contributed by a Bulletin Board Guest Writer

My dad wanted my little brother to be tough, boxing, etc. He already was great at pushing – pushing me off of my stool as I did my chores, dishes, baking tins, etc.

So he buys him a punching bag and I'm supposed to join him at this. I hate getting hit in the face, after all, I'm not that much taller than he is. We are probably four or five years old.

I suppose my lesson is to defend myself. I hate this, of course. I see my opportunity one day. Everyone is out of the house, I believe doing farm chores, as we were never left alone. I get a stool and climb up to the wood stove and lengthen the punching bag to where, as he hits it, it connects with the stove poker, knowing that he likes to walk through the house and hit his punching bag. You see, I only have to be his sparring partner when my dad is in charge. Of course, one day it collapses. Tears, Oh my, gosh! I lucked out I could climb up on the stove and do what I did. Of course, dad just went out and purchased him a new one.

Last Week's Photo Mystery Revealed

This photo was in last week's issue of The Bulletin Board. Readers were asked about the small glass and metal object at the top of a thin pole attached to a Sheridan building.

Readers in the know and those willing to make a creative guess were asked to email their responses to bulletin@wavecable.com.

The Bulletin Board promised to reveal all the details provided by a life-long Sheridanite in this week's issue.

Curious-minded folks will find this little treasure on South Bridge Street on the top southwest corner of Benny Huie's. It's at the top left of Bennie's green awning, a couple of feet back from the front of the building.

"It's been there since 1954 or 1955," said Val Adamson.

"Back in the day, police walked the beat in Sheridan, usually at night, which meant they walked through town checking on businesses to be sure they were locked and all was well. Of course, they also walked through the bars, etc.

"The police didn't have pagers or portable radios in those days. When they were out of their cars, dispatch would flip on the red light (shown above) if you needed them. As the officers walked around town, they kept an eye out for it. If they saw the red light, they'd get to their cars as quickly as they could and radio in for information.

A similar fixture was located next to Sheridan Pharmacy in those days, giving visibility for most downtown areas.

"This was well before we had YCOM," said Val. "Sheridan handled its own police business at that time."

The funeral home handled fire and police calls from 5 p.m. until 8 a.m. back then. Val took on this duty part-time when he was in the eighth grade and worked in this capacity well into his teen years.

Citizens who needed police or fire services would call the phone number for whichever service they needed, but the phones would ring at Val's house.

When Val received a call for police service in the evening, he would turn on the red lights downtown. He said the switch looked just like a light switch you would have in your house. For fire calls, he'd push a button that called firefighters into the station.

Val explained that the building at 148 S. Bridge Street, which has "City Hall" at the top, never really served as City Hall. He said the City had a small office there, but it mainly housed the police and fire departments, with the library located upstairs.

This building, constructed in 1916 with a $6,000 bond passed by Sheridan voters in 1915, also contained the city jail. Which, Val said, is still there. He explained that, for many years, the city offices were in Dr. Wilbur's old office across the street.

Kelli's Kuts Re-Opens Salon at 144 E. Main Street in Sheridan

Kelli Williams of Kelli's Kuts has returned to Sheridan and once again offers $10 haircuts, beard trims, and facial waxing services. Kelli is a 1988 graduate of Multnomah School of Hair Design who has 35 years of experience. For 13 years, she worked at the Great Clips near Walmart in McMinnville.

She has two sons, David, currently a sophomore at Sheridan High School, and Caleb, an eighth-grade student at Faulconer Chapman.

While working in McMinnville, Kelly enjoyed many customers from Grand Ronde, Willamina, and Sheridan. Many of these folks accompanied several kids or elderly parents, driving many miles to Great Clips in McMinnville for more affordable haircuts. So Kelly thought opening a new salon in the West Valley would offer the community a more convenient, less expensive service.

When Kelly first returned to Sheridan, she opened her shop in a space inside the Monroe Event Center.

On Nov. 2, she moved her shop to 144 E. Main Street in Sheridan. She is now open for business next door to Main Street Books Revisited. She is in the same building with Curls, Cuts, and More, and The Bulletin Board.

Kelli's Kut's hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Saturdays. No appointment is necessary. Kelly loves cutting hair for kids, the elderly, and everyone in between. Haircuts cost $10 for all styles, from buzz cuts to the more complex "high and tights" and A-Lines. She does not offer chemical services, no perms or specialties, just haircuts, beard trims, and facial waxing services. Kelli's first Sheridan salon was located at 120 SW Monroe Street, next to Hagen Hamilton insurance. Unfortunately, Covid-19 forced her to close this shop. Her last day of operation there was Mar. 19, 2020. She sold her Sheridan home, and she and her sons moved to Cathlamet, Wash., to open another shop. Kelli is a single mom with bills to pay and boys to raise, so not working was not an option for her.

But, she and her boys missed Sheridan and their friends. Kelli had kept in touch with her Sheridan friends while away and decided it was a good time to return.

Kelli said she plans to offer honest, quality service to the West Valley community.

She also plans to continue with her generous offer to help the Grand Sheramina Food Bank. Patrons who bring in one can of food for donation to the food bank will receive $2 off their haircut or waxing service.

Obituary

Patti L. Grayson

Jan. 26, 1956-Oct. 29, 2021

Patti L. Grayson left to be with the Lord in the early morning hours of Friday, Oct. 29.

She passed away peacefully at home with friends and family by her side, especially with the loving care of her longtime friend, Cindy Jeppson Powell.

She was born in Anchorage, Alaska, a short time before it officially became a state. While in Alaska as a young girl, she raised and ran a dog sled team. Her family then moved to Sheridan, where she graduated from high school in 1974.

She worked at several jobs, including being a waitress, and continued to pursue her interest in dogs, training, and showing them in many prominent dog shows.

She lived in various places along the Oregon coast. While there, she started a landscape business and became an instructor in a very successful aerobics class. Patty then moved back to Sheridan, where she started her own roofing company.

She was never afraid of hard work. Many people will remember Patty as the woman who always had a dog or two by her side. She also enjoyed riding her horse in the nearby mountains. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

Patti leaves behind her mother, Donna Moretto, of Sheridan; brother, Dan Cox of British Columbia; daughter, Athena Nelson (Tony); and two granddaughters, Kyndra and Kylee, all of Pendleton.

She is also survived by her companion and partner of 20 years, Scott Henderson, and special friend, Dwight Fodness, both of Sheridan.

She leaves behind two golden retrievers and an Australian shepherd.

A celebration of her life will be held later this spring or summer on a beautiful day.

Sheridan Christmas Committee Elves Working Hard For Fabulous Holidays

There's something special about the charms of a small-town holiday celebration that warms the heart and helps create happy childhood memories for the younger set in the community. So Sheridan's Christmas Committee is already hard at work planning a fabulous Christmas for the Sheridan community this year.

Sandy Walker will take charge of the Christmas parade. Parade floats and entries are encouraged. Now is a great time to get together with friends and start planning and building a float to represent your business, organization, church, Scouts, etc. So gather a group of friends, co-workers, relatives, or all of the above, and build a float or plan an entry that will share some happy holiday spirit with each other and the community.

The parade, set for Nov. 27, will begin at the Sheridan Post Office parking lot and wind its way to Sheridan High School. Organizations and their floats should be at the post office at 5:30 p.m. The parade will begin at 6 p.m. For more information, contact Sandy via email: swalker43161232@gmail.com. Sandy will need to know what type of float you or your organization is planning; for example, she will need to know whether loud music will be playing, sirens sounding, live animals, etc.

West Valley Rotary Club will again sponsor the community tree lighting. This year the town's Christmas tree will be located in front of Sheridan high school. Christmas characters will spread joy and small toys with good little boys and girls.

Speaking of good little boys and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Claus and the elves are looking forward to receiving letters from West Valley children. Santa will begin checking his mailbox on Dec. 1. He will continue checking his Sheridan mailboxes until Dec. 15.

The annual Deck the House contest is scheduled Dec. 13-20. To enter this contest, deck out your house and email your address to the Christmas committee: christmasinsheridan@gmail.com, so contest organizers can include your address on the map of contestants and on the voter's ballots.

A business decorating contest is also in the works, and more information will be available soon. Organizers say that extra decorations are available to loan to businesses.

Community fundraiser raffles will help pay for expenses associated with all of this community fun. We'll keep you posted with the details as soon as we have them.

As planning progresses more information will become available. We promise to share.

WHAT'S UP IN WILLAMINA

by mary jane

I know I've written about this before because it's a BIG pet peeve of mine...and should be yours, too. It's people who drive without their headlights on, especially between Willamina and Sheridan on Bus. Hwy. 18 and in wet weather. You can't see them; at least I can't.

I'm sure they can see me because 99.9% of the time, my lights are on when I leave my driveway. I sure don't want to be the victim of a head-on collision... as was a friend of mine a while back. So sad.

It doesn't cost anything but about two seconds of your life, if that long, to turn on your lights when you start the engine and another two seconds when you turn off your engine. If that's too much trouble, a mechanic can set your lights to come on and off when your motor is running. With wet roads and dark skies, plus dark cars/trucks, you are not very visible to oncoming traffic, even if you're following another vehicle. Even on sunny days, you can "get lost" in the shadows of the trees through that area. So PLEASE turn on your headlights. It's a great habit to get into. You just might save your life or the life of a loved one, maybe even a stranger's life. Besides, think of the paperwork you'll avoid.

Being extra safe is "What's Up in Willamina."

Curt Edmondson and John Bagero, owners of the property located at 106 S. Bridge, hired Green Deconstruction Services, Inc. (GDSI) to clean up this pile of debris that contains asbestos. The building collapsed last January, less than two full days after Curt and John purchased the property. The new owners have been working on the cleanup since that time. The City of Sheridan is involved because former City Manager Frank Sheridan permitted them to place the materials on this city-owned property. GDSI expected to complete the job within a few days. GDSI will truck the material to the Hillsboro Landfill area equipped to handle materials containing asbestos. Jacob, who has been with GDSI for about five years, said he has talked with the neighbors a couple of times, and they are pleased to see this material moved off the property.

Sheridan Road ...

The driver proceeded to smash into two vehicles located in the driveway next door at 526 Sheridan Road. The truck came to a stop as it hit this house.

The driver fled the scene, but witnesses say he was quickly apprehended hiding behind a tree next to nearby railroad tracks. A paramedic said the driver suffered a cut on his chin as a result of the crash. He was arrested and transported to the hospital for evaluation of any further injuries and was then lodged in the county jail. He will face three felony charges for assaulting a public safety officer, endangering a person protected by a restraining order, and fleeing or attempting to elude police officers. He has also been charged with 10 additional misdemeanors.

West Valley Community Campus

The mission for the West Valley Community Campus is to provide a place to foster community and individual growth through educational, recreational, and cultural activities.

The facility was built during President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's presidency as part of the New Deal economic recovery plan. The Willamina School District used it as the Willamina High School until the school district built the new school at Oaken Hills.

The last class to graduate from this old school was in 2003.

The building sat empty for several years before a private party purchased it in 2011.

In 2013, the West Valley Community Campus nonprofit organization was formed, and the board obtained a 501c3. Community work parties were held to save the building from further disrepair by patching the roof, cleaning, painting, installing heating systems, and more.

SHERIDAN CHAMBER SPOTLIGHT

DELPHIAN SCHOOL

In the 1970s, a group of educators banded together to transform education using new fundamentals. They had observed that conventional schools were failing too many bright students. These educators were committed to making a difference. That difference is Delphian.

At Delphian, you won't find teachers lecturing while students rotely take notes. You will find students actively engaged in learning, studying independently and moving at the speed that is right for them. You'll see lively one-on-one and small group discussions on works of literature, art, business, science or current events. You'll see students creating clay models to explain and demonstrate a concept, a student giving a presentation on his apprenticeship experience or a topic he's just researched, and students heading to the science lab or out into the world to test or explore a theory.

The educational program at Delphian is designed to help students relate what they're learning to how they will use this information to succeed in life. Our students live their education from the moment they walk into our school. Our faculty excel at keeping students motivated and on track with their studies, and you can rest assured that each student receives highly personal attention—every academic program is individually designed to best cater to that student's academic needs and interests.

Each student at Delphian is treated as an individual, and we seek to help all of them find their own purpose and use for their education. Some things you have to see to believe. Delphian is one of them. Contact us to schedule a visit and experience Delphian for yourself. info@delphian.org or (503) 843-3521.
