NOTICE OF PARK ADVISORY BOARD POSITIONS OPEN

Yamhill County is currently seeking to fill two positions on the Parks Advisory Board. Applications can be found on the county website:

www.co.yamhill.or.us.

The Planning Commission has a vacant seat, and the City of Sheridan is recruiting for an individual with a general knowledge of the City and the services it provides. This is a four-year term volunteer position, and the duties of a commissioner are to plan and regulate the development of land inside City limits. The Planning recommends Commission ordinances requiring that all land development undertaken in the City must comply with City ordinances and follow the terms of the City's Development Code, Comprehensive Plan, and Public Works Design Standards. The Planning Commission hears a wide range of applications including urban growth boundary expansions, annexations, property partitions, major variances, subdivisions, zone changes, etc. If you have questions, please contact the City Manager or Deputy City Recorder prior to submitting a Planning Commission application by calling 503-843-2347. Applications are due by 4:00 p.m. on May 3, 2023. They may be returned by email to orodela@cityofsheridanor.com, faxed to 503-843-3661, or dropped off at City Hall in person.

Now that Easter has passed, all the eggs have been dyed, hidden, and found, the community will be going on to other fun things. Many of them are lined up on the calendar. Here are a few.

The next one I see on the calendar is the Willamina Chamber of Commerce bark dust sale on April 21 and 22 in Coyote Joe's parking lot. You can pre-order if you wish or show up. There will be folks there to help you load your car, truck, trailer, or wheelbarrow.

Then there's graduation. That's fun because there's usually a "noise parade" about a week before, so get your ear plugs ready. After the graduation ceremony, there may be a parade through town. There has been for the past couple of years. It's a very fun happening.

Then comes the mud drags and the Old-Fashioned 4th of July. We'll all need a bit of rest after that.

Having spring/summer fun is "What's Up in Willamina."

A MESSAGE FROM THE WILLAMINA SCHOOL DISTRICT

The proposed 2023-24 budget has been developed with an emphasis on improving student academic growth and achievement, addressing learning loss due to the pandemic, and implementing the goal's identified in our Continuous Improvement Plan, Student Investment Account Plan, High School Success Plan, and Long Range Facility Plan. This includes dedicated dollars to professional learning, new curriculum, expanding well-rounded learning experiences k-12, enhancing our Career Technical Education programs 6-12, expanding and improving our facilities, and maintaining class size below the state average.

However, we continue to build our budget using conservative parameters as we have in the past. The 23-25 biennium budget is projected to be under the needed amount to sustain current service levels. Currently $9.9 billion dollars is slated for education in the governor's budget. The Oregon Association of School Business Officials predicts schools will need $10.3 billion dollars to maintain current service levels. Prioritizing funding to align with our district goals is essential and crucial to moving the district toward improved student outcomes.

The proposed budget will sustain the District's goals and vision for our schools, it also provides for future stability. We are encouraged that the state budget includes increased funding for the High School Success program, summer school funds, and increased funding for the Student Investment Account, which is dedicated to improving mental health initiatives, increased learning time, and well-rounded education k-12.

The 2023-24 plan will include:

•Committed time for professional learning and training for all staff members

- •A guaranteed viable curriculum aligned to state standards
- Safe transportation services for students

•High quality nutrition program with free breakfast and lunch for all students

•Specialized programs to serve students experiencing disabilities

•Well-rounded learning experiences in applied and fine arts, technology, and local history

•An array of electives and extracurricular activities

Willamina School District is committed to working on behalf of all students and ensuring they are equipped for the future. We appreciate the support of the school board, budget committee and community. As cuperintendent, I am pleased to offer this 2023-24 proposed budget.

With great Bulldog pride, Carrie Zimbrick, Superintendent

Recognizing Autism Awareness Month

Autism has become a household word because of the vast number of lives impacted by this highly scrutinized and often confusing series of conditions. In 2018, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention determined that 1 in 59 children currently has autism spectrum disorder in the United States.

ASD can affect the entire body, but it is typically marked by repetitive patterns of behavior, interests or activities. Difficulties with communication, intellectual disabilities and impaired social interactions also are noted. The autism awareness organization Autism Speaks estimates that one-third of people with ASD are nonverbal as well.

Research implicates genetics as the cause of ASD in the vast majority of cases. Generally speaking, children born to older parents are at a higher risk for having autism than those born to younger parents. Despite controversy, there is no definitive link between ASD and immunizations.

Each April is Autism Awareness Month. April also hosts World Autism Day (April 2). The Autism Society, one of the leading autism organizations, established the observance month to "promote autism awareness, inclusion and self-determination for all, and to assure that each person with ASD is provided the opportunity to achieve the highest possible quality of life." There are many steps people can take to help the group achieve that goal, both in April and throughout the year.

1. Wear blue. One of the significant markers of autism support and awareness is the displaying of the color blue. Many organizations sell blue t-shirts and other promotional items that help raise awareness and money for the cause.

2. Attend an event. There are many marches or fundraisers for ASD in April. Participating in such events shows those with ASD that people care about them.

3. Go to a sensory friendly event. Venues like movie theaters and amusement parks offer "sensory-friendly" days for individuals with ASD and their families.

4. Embrace the ribbon. The puzzle piece ribbon represents the complexity and diversity of those with ASD. Pin a ribbon to clothing or attach ribbon magnets to cars.

5. Learn more. Dr. Temple Grandin is an autism expert who is on the spectrum herself. Through her own words, Grandin shares unprecedented insights into what the autistic brain experiences. This education can be used in one's own life or in the classroom. There are other educators with ASD who also offer their expertise online.

6. Donate when possible. Although there is no cure for autism, researchers continue to work to learn more about it and any potential treatments that can improve the lives of those with ASD.

Rural Leaders Meet With Congresswoman and Undersecretary

Marianne Thomson

USDA Undersecretary for Rural Development Xochitl Torres Small and Congresswoman Andrea Salinas listened intently as mayors, city managers, and city councilors representing 18 rural communities in Yamhill, Polk, and Marion counties expressed their concerns and discussed the challenges of applying for much-needed rural development funds for essential infrastructure projects.

Xochitl Torres Small heads the Rural Development Mission Area and assists rural communities across the United States. In particular, this assistance comes in three areas: business, utilities, and housing. In addition, the undersecretary oversees loans, grants, and technical assistance to rural residents, communities, and businesses.

Congresswoman Salinas introduced Xochitl Torres Small, noting that she is a former congresswoman and native Oregonian who grew up in New Mexico.

Common concerns expressed to the undersecretary by community leaders included the often overwhelming and intimidating complexity of the paperwork required to apply for funds. The undersecretary said she is committed to addressing these statutory and regulatory burdens. She also talked about providing technical assistance to those needing support through the application process.

One city manager said that, even if they find a way to navigate through the application process, it takes about two years to receive the funds leaving them hoping their infrastructure doesn't fail while they wait.

Willamina Mayor IIa Skyberg, Sheridan Mayor Marianne Thomson, and Sheridan City Councilor Dennis McElroy attended the meeting to learn more about these rural development grants and low-interest loans and how they may further benefit the West Valley.

Former Willamina City Manager Kenna West, now the city manager for Independence, talked about the funding process she initiated while still working on behalf of the City of Willamina. Kenna said that the water project's cost was initially $2.1 million. However, she said the project cost now exceeds $11 million.

She also noted that it had taken grant funding from seven different sources to finance this critical water project for Willamina. Congresswoman Selinas seeking confirmation that the sequencing of this funding process delays projects and increases the cost was met with, "It absolutely does," from Kenna.

Willamina is one of several small cities on tight budgets struggling to provide a safe and adequate water supply without being forced to raise water rates beyond what is affordable for their community's water customers. Some cities represented said they need help to match some of the requirements for these federal grants.

Like Kenna, almost all city officials said their project costs dramatically increased while working through the grant and loan application processes and while waiting to receive the actual funding.

One mayor suggested that every city, especially small cities, receive $500,000-$1 million yearly for ten years for infrastructure needs only. He added that these cities could decide to save the funds for larger projects or use them for immediate needs.

Addressing the many questions, concerns, ideas, and conversations covered in the 95-minute meeting, the undersecretary said with a smile, "This has gotten really in the weeds, and I can't tell you how grateful I am." The response was a roomful of laughter and an invitation for her quick return.

Congresswoman Salinas agreed, saying, "I, too, like to dive into the weeds. This may not be the "sexy" stuff, but it's the stuff that matters."

John McArdle, Oregon's longest-term mayor with 25 years on the job, added, "I just want you to know that all of these mayors here today are all volunteers. None of these people are getting paid. When you talked about folks caring... there you go."

Gary Brooks addressed a full house last Saturday at the Sheridan Museum of History. His love of history and attention to detail is evident in his many skillfully constructed sawmills, small town scenes, and more.

National Gardening Day is Friday, April 14

On average, the West Valley's last spring frost occurs around April 25. This makes April a great time to start that outdoor garden you've dreamed of. April is an excellent time to plant arugula, beets, carrots, and potatoes. Wait till after the last frost for things like corn, green beans, sweet potatoes, and zucchini. Below are some tips for the firsttime gardener.

Pick the right location. Most vegetables need at least six hours of sun a day. Some crops, such as lettuce, spinach, and other greens, will grow well in your partially sunny spots, but sun-loving plants like tomatoes and peppers need as much light as possible.

Keep it close to home. A location near your house will make it easier to tend your plot regularly and make it convenient to run out and pick what you need for a meal.

Only grow things your family likes to eat. There is no sense in spending all your time, energy, and money growing stuff you won't enjoy or that will go to waste.

Water needs to be readily available. Nothing burns out a beginning gardener faster than lugging water to thirsty plants during a heat wave. Consider investing in a quality hose with a sprayer attachment or, even better, a drip irrigation system.

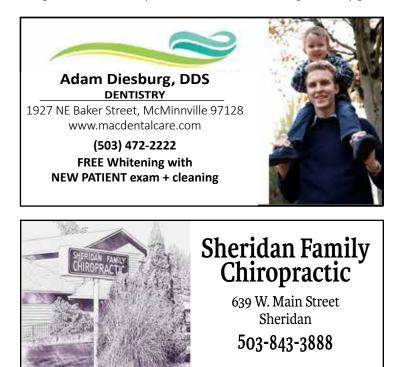

Good soil is the key to a successful garden. Plants depend on the soil for nutrients, stability, and drainage. To grow your best garden, start with well-drained, sandy loam and add as much organic matter as possible.

Amend your soil. Compost, leaf mold, or well-aged manure will increase your soil's ability to drain well and hold moisture, the sponge factor. However, never use fresh manure. It can harbor dangerous pathogens and will burn tender plant roots. Instead, compost it for at least 6 to 12 months.

Seeds or plants? Most garden vegetables can be directly seeded where they are to grow, lettuce, beans, carrots, beets, chard, spinach, peas, cucumbers, and squash. Things that take longer to produce an edible fruit do better with a head start. Purchase transplants for tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, and melons, or start your own indoors six to eight weeks before planting them outside.

Keep your garden productive by staggering plantings of fast-maturing veggies such as beans and lettuce and replanting other areas as they are harvested. Don't plant all at once.

Use raised garden beds or containers if you need more space to work with. If you have impossibly rocky soil or solid clay, consider building some raised beds that you can fill with good soil. Growing vegetables in containers is another option. If you want an instant garden, try grow

Pecans Give These Cookies Extra Appeal

Pecans are tasty offerings that are ideal in both savory dishes and desserts. Like fruits of other members of the hickory genus of trees, pecans are not truly nuts, but drupes. A drupe is a fruit with a single stone or pit surrounded by a husk. With pecans, the outer husk dries out and splits open, exposing the "nuts" inside.

Georgia, New Mexico and Texas are the leading domestic producers of pecans, but Mexico grows nearly half of the world's pecans. Pecans are hearthealthy and rich in antioxidants, several vitamins and minerals, and a good source of healthy fat. In addition, one ounce of pecans provides 10 percent of the recommended daily fiber intake.

Cookies may never be considered "health food," but there are ways to make them more nutritious. The addition of beneficial ingredients like pecans can do just that. This recipe for "Cowboy Cookies" from "Live Well, Bake Cookies" (Rock Point) by Danielle Rye includes oats, pecans and coconut in the mixture, adding flavor and nutritional appeal.

Cowboy Cookies

Makes 50 to 52 cookies 2 cups all-purpose flour, spooned and leveled

1 teaspoon baking soda

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon salt

2 cups old-fashioned rolled oats 1 cup (2 sticks) unsalted butter, softened

1 cup packed light brown sugar 2/3 cup granulated sugar

2 large eggs, at room temperature

2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract 1 1/2 cups semisweet chocolate chips

3/4 cup sweetened shredded coconut

1 cup chopped pecans (see baking tip)

1. In a large mixing bowl, whisk together the flour, baking soda, ground cinnamon, and salt until well combined. Stir in the old-fashioned rolled oats and set aside.

2. In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment or in a large mixing bowl using a handheld mixer, beat the butter, brown sugar and granulated sugar together for 1 to 2 minutes, or until well combined. 3. Mix in the eggs, one at a time, then mix in the vanilla extract until fully combined, making sure to stop and scrape down the sides of the bowl as needed. 4. Mix in the dry ingredients until just combined, then mix in the chocolate chips, shredded coconut and chopped pecans on low speed until fully incorporated.

5. Cover tightly and refrigerate for at least 1 hour.

6. Preheat the oven to 350 F. Line large baking sheets with parchment paper or silicone baking mats and set aside.

7. Using a 11/2-tablespoon cookie scoop, scoop the cookie dough onto the prepared baking sheets, making sure to leave a little room between each one. Gently press each ball of cookie dough down to slightly flatten it. 8. Bake for 10 to 13 minutes, or until the tops of the cookies are set and the edges are lightly browned. Remove from the oven, and allow the cookies to cool on the baking sheets for 5 to 10 minutes, then carefully transfer the cookies to a wire rack to cool completely.

9. Store the cookies in an airtight container at room temperature for up to one week.

Baking tip: For even more flavor, try toasting the pecans. Just cool them completely before adding them to the cookie dough.

Willamina Residents Launched Neighborhood Watch on April 3

A neighborhood watch meeting was held at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, April 3. Twenty-two people were in attendance at the Willamina VFW hall located on Main Street.

Community residents share the hope of making Willamina Oregon's safest logging town.

The Yamhill County Sheriff runs the program. Mr. Darrell Flood of the Yamhill County Police Department was the primary speaker. He provided insight into the effectiveness of communities pulling together.

The neighborhood watch program began in the 1970s and has proven to combat crime in communities effectively.

Mr. Flood spent nearly an hour discussing starting a new program.

"We need half of the homes to participate. That's how we get the official Neighborhood Watch signs posted," said Willamina resident Corinne D. Sullivan. Corinne began the initiative in April, just a week before the meeting. She contacted Captain Sam Elliott, who put her in touch with Mr. Flood.

Louis Rober, the command post chief of the Willamina VFW, made the VFW available for free. He and members of the VFW set up the microphone and supplied refreshments.

Long-time Willamina resident Ben George suggested that the first initiative of the neighborhood watch be a citywide cleanup, and it was unanimously agreed upon. A command team was comprised to supervise the group's undertakings.

The neighborhood watch group will meet again at 6:30 p.m., Monday, May 1, at the Willamina VFW on Main Street. The meeting is open to the public.
