Willamina and Sheridan's Nutrition Director Receives Regional Award

The national, non-profit School Nutrition Association (SNA) has named Lynne Shore, Nutrition Services Director for Willamina and Sheridan School Districts, Oregon, the Western region Director of the Year. The award recognizes the extraordinary contributions of school nutrition directors who manage effective school meal programs providing healthy, appetizing meals to students.

Students are reaping the benefits of a nutrition program that Lynne Shore has spent more than a decade turning around. Shore took several steps to accomplish financial self-sufficiency while enhancing the district's cafeterias to be positive and inviting for students. She trains staff in customer service and encourages them to know students' names. It is a regular occurrence to see staff members playing music and dancing with students during lunch. The positive impact has made lasting impressions, with former students returning to district schools as parents, sharing memories of the kindness of their nutrition staff.

Shore instituted a Breakfast in the Classroom program, an after-school snack program and applied to be a Community Eligibility Provision (CEP) district to ensure all students have access to free healthy school meals through the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs. Shore has applied for multiple grants to help improve the program's bottom line while bringing much-needed elements to improve students' experience in her cafeterias, including salad bars, milk coolers and point-of-sale kiosks.

Shore plans school events to spread fun nutritional information without the students even realizing they are learning, such as kid chef competitions and student cooking classes.

Working with local vendors and community partners, Shore teaches the students about where their food comes from, bringing in local farmers for meet and greets. Students ask questions, take photos and learn farm facts through games, creating lasting positive impressions. The next project for Shore is a farmer's market at the district's schools. Funding from a grant will allow the students to shop for food for their families.

Shore's impact on the community is also felt outside the school walls. She volunteers to help with community events and she marches in the parade to promote the summer lunch program.

"Lynne Shore's actions have made a positive impact on the children in the community. Her dedication to their nutritional well-being is evident in all she does during the school day and after school," said SNA President

Lori Adkins, MS, SNS, CHE. Belonging to the School Nutrition Association is important to Shore; she's served on local and national boards. She conducts annual staff training and serves as a mentor for several area school districts. She has integrated several School Nutrition magazine articles during her annual trainings, reading articles and quizzing staff on the training.

The Director of the Year Award was created to recognize school nutrition directors who exhibit an extraordinary commitment to their school meal programs. The directors are responsible for maintaining the quality of the program through student interaction, menu planning and a commitment to serving nutritious, tasty and well-balanced school meals. Through effective oversight of all aspects of food service operations, including budgeting, staffing, training, marketing and community outreach, school nutrition directors ensure the overall success of school meal programs.

Shore was announced as the Western Region Director of the Year during an online awards ceremony on May 2 in advance of School Lunch Hero Day, celebrated on May 5, 2023, to honor all of America's dedicated school nutrition professionals. The accomplishments of Shore and all SNA award winners will also be highlighted in a special publication and promoted in SNA's annual Hero Day social media campaign on Facebook. com/TrayTalk and TrayTalk.org.

City of Sheridan

A Message From Code Enforcement

It is the time of year when the weather improves, and kids start playing outside.

With the improved weather, grass, flowers, and shrubs grow and bloom.

Lawns should be mowed, and the growth should be down for several reasons. First, grounds become drier with higher temperatures, and your noxious growth and weeds become a fire hazard. As we saw in the last two years, fires only take a little heat to ignite and spread, which can cause such devastation to our whole community. Also, yards containing noxious growth can make it look as if we don't care about the appearance of our community.

We are incredibly fortunate to have community members willing to unite and make Sheridan look great again.

The other thing we need to address is basketball hoops. Not everybody has a driveway to shoot hoops, and we understand that.

The City is asking all community members to please remove the basketball hoops from the sidewalk and in the street at the end of the day. If the basketball hoops stay in the lane, the City's street sweeper cannot adequately sweep that area. This causes build-up on our roads.

We ask you to remove them from the sidewalks so that community members can walk down the sidewalk rather than into the street.

As always, we appreciate every community member's effort to make Sheridan the town we want it to be.

Well, here comes Mother's Day. It's nice to have a special day to honor her. She's a big part of everyone's life, whether she's still with us or has passed on. I think she should always be honored. She does/did a lot for each of us—everything from teaching us how to tie our shoes to making our beds. Then there's the project of teaching us manners... don't speak with your mouth full, keep your elbows off the table, hold the door for an older person, and say "thank you" and "excuse me" when necessary. I think you get the idea. What are you going to do for your mom this coming weekend? Trying to decide what to do for mom is "What's Up in Willamina" this week.

A MESSAGE FROM THE WILLAMINA SCHOOL DISTRICT

May is the busiest month of the school year. We have multiple activities planned every day this month. Baseball, softball, and track & field are preparing for post-season competition. State testing is wrapping up this week, and we are set to honor our kindergarten, eighth graders, and seniors as they transition to the next chapter of their lives. Graduation is set for 1:00 pm, Saturday, May 27, at the football field. We hope to see many of you there.

This past Saturday, the Future Farmers of America (FFA) club held its annual banquet. Students were awarded discovery degrees, green hand degrees, chapter degrees, and state awards. Three outstanding seniors, Leanna LaPoint, Allison LaPoint, and Spencer Onstot, were celebrated for their many accomplishments and contributions to our FFA Chapter. Rebecca Neese was recognized with the Star Discovery Award, Anabelle VanHorn received the Star Greenhand Award, and Gracie Dunn, Chapter President, was bestowed the Star Chapter Farmer Award. Honorary Chapter Award recipients included; Tim and Sheila LaPoint and Ken and Robyn Onstot. The Distinguished Service Award was presented to Best Stop Market.

Congratulations to all of our outstanding FFA members and their advisors, David Neese and Brenda Shenk. You have much to be proud of, and represent your school and community well!

Jose Cruz had a stellar performance over the past few weeks, breaking multiple school records in the 3,000-meter and 1,500-meter runs. He also set a new 800-meter record at 2.03.42. He currently leads the league in all three events.

Finally, I would like to recognize our amazing staff! It is National Teacher Appreciation Week, and we are fortunate to have great ones. Please help me in celebrating our staff. They put in tremendous time and effort to support our students each and every day.

Warm Fuzzies

I want to thank all of you for the overwhelming support I received after my accident.

This community came together to help me financially, physically, mentally, and emotionally more than I could have imagined. Without the support from all of you, I could have lost everything.

I was sent cards and flowers and received phone calls and visits. Without those, I wouldn't be where I am today, back home.

I appreciate each of you. Words cannot truly describe the gratitude I have for my community.

Thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Mək^hMək Mania Brought Free Food, Fun and Education to the Community

A celebration of local food, farmers, hunting, and gathering was held last Saturday at the tribal gymnasium. Upon arrival, patrons received free raffle tickets to win one of many prizes, including kitchen appliances, gift cards, gardening tools, and steaks. In addition, local businesses took the opportunity to donate to the event.

A hot breakfast, buffet-style lunch, and a yogurt parfait bar were served to all participants at no charge.

Tables were set up around the room, offering free books about food preservation and cooking; some provided information about programs and resources in the area, others had smoothies that were blended by a stationary bicycle, and gardening information was represented through the event.

Kids' activities were plentiful;

giant checkers, coloring tables, bean bag toss, and crafts were among the favorites.

Those who decorated a can planter to personalize it could fill them with soil and plant various seeds.

Anyone who wanted to take home a tomato plant was welcome. They ranged from starters for a garden to ones that could stay in a larger pot.

The silent auction was the only fundraiser present. It featured various choices, including glassware, blankets, kid's toys, flower pots, and more. The auction benefited the Grand Ronde food pantry.

This annual event is organized by Grand Ronde's Food Access and Community Team. Marion-Polk Food Share and the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde sponsor it annually.

Corky Ambrose distributed bags to each family that attended. The bags for children were labeled by age and contained art supplies and a soap stone carving kit. Bags for adults contained recipe books, measuring cups and more.

Nellie Long and Sarira Contreras, both from OSU Food Safety, Security and Preservation. OSU had tables with smoothies, gardening tips, and tips for preserving food.

Erik Garcia and Andrea Smith of ODHS were at Mək^hMək Mania as a resource table. They offer services twice a week in Grand Ronde.

Oregon Health Authority Issues First Psilocybin Service Center License

This week, Oregon Health Authority (OHA) licensed the state's first psilocybin service center as part of the regulatory framework created by M109, the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act. OHA issued the license to EPIC Healing Eugene.

"We want to congratulate Cathy Jonas of EPIC Healing Eugene on being the first licensed service center in the state," says Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) Section Manager Angie Allbee. "This is such a historic moment as psilocybin services will soon become available in Oregon, and we appreciate the strong commitment to client safety and access as service center doors prepare to open."

Under the statewide model, clients 21 or older may access psilocybin services. While they won't need prescriptions or referrals from healthcare providers, clients must first complete a preparation session with a licensed facilitator.

If they meet the criteria to move forward, they may participate in an administration session at a licensed service center, where they may consume psilocybin products in the presence of a trained and licensed facilitator. Afterward, clients may join optional integration sessions, which offer opportunities to connect to community resources and peer support networks for additional support.

Once licensed, service centers can employ and/or contract with licensed facilitators who are trained in providing preparation, administration, and integration sessions to clients.

Service centers will sell psilocybin products produced by licensed manufacturers and tested by licensed laboratories. To date, OPS has issued three manufacturer licenses, one laboratory license, five facilitator licenses, and 84 worker permits. OPS expects to issue more licenses and worker permits in the coming months.

While OPS has now issued all four license types, it may take time for licensees to set up operations.

Each licensed service center, and the licensed facilitators who work for or with them, will set their own costs while managing their operations and communications.

USAO Recognizes Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons Awareness Day

The U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Oregon joins its partners across the federal government, as well as people throughout American Indian and Alaska Native communities, in recognizing May 5, as National Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons Awareness Day. Responding to unacceptable levels of violence that have caused a crisis of Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons (MMIP) is a priority for the U.S. Attorney's Office and the Department of Justice.

"The Justice Department is marshaling the full strength of its resources to confront the crisis of Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons, which has devastated the lives of victims, their families, and entire Tribal communities," said Attorney General Merrick B. Garland. "Addressing this crisis requires a whole-of-government approach, and we are grateful for the partnership of Tribal and other law enforcement agencies across the nation that are working alongside the Justice Department to help reduce crime and support victims in American Indian and Alaska Native communities."

The department's response to the MMIP crisis is a whole-of-department effort taking many forms. One year ago today, Deputy Attorney General Lisa Monaco joined Secretary of the Interior Deb Haaland to launch the Not Invisible Act Commission with the mission of reducing violence against American Indians and Alaska Natives. Later this year, the commission will deliver recommendations for addressing the MMIP crisis to the Attorney General and Secretary Haaland.

"Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons Awareness Day calls on our nation to pause and honor the loved ones who have gone missing or who have been the victims of violent crime," said Deputy Attorney General Lisa O. Monaco. "Acknowledging the many American Indian and Alaska Native people who have suffered, and continue to suffer, from the pain of a missing loved one or of violent crime serves as an important reminder of the urgency and importance of the department's work to respond to the crisis of missing or murdered indigenous persons. The Justice Department—including our dedicated agents, analysts, and prosecutors—remains steadfast in our pledge to work as partners with Tribal governments in preventing and responding to the violence that has disproportionately harmed Tribal communities."

"The Justice Department is committed to using every resource at its disposal to combat the Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons Crisis," said Associate Attorney General Vanita

Gupta. "In addition to our core law-enforcement work, we are providing grant funding and guidance to help Tribes develop response plans for missing-persons cases, partner effectively with local law enforcement, and provide resources for victims of crime."

In July 2022, Deputy Attorney General Monaco issued a memorandum reaffirming the department's commitment to addressing the disproportionately high rates of violence experienced by American Indians and Alaska Natives and the high rates of indigenous persons reported missing. For more information about the Justice Department's efforts to address the MMIP crisis, please visit the Missing or Murdered Indigenous Persons section of the Tribal Safety and Justice website.

In early 2022, the District of Oregon established an MMIP Working Group to increase multi-agency communication and collaboration in support of and response to Oregon-connected MMIP cases. The working group includes at least one representative from each of the nine federally recognized Tribes in Oregon, the FBI, Bureau of Indian Affairs, U.S. Department of Interior Regional Solicitor's Office, U.S. Marshals Service, Oregon Department of Justice, Oregon State Medical Examiner's Office, and Oregon State Police. If you have questions about the U.S. Attorney's Office MMIP program, contact program coordinator Cedar Wilkie Gillette by emailing Cedar.Wilkie.Gillette@usdoj.gov or by calling (503) 727-1000.

Head Start Has Openings, Parents Encouraged to Apply for Programs

Head Start of Yamhill County has openings for children to participate in its Head Start and Early Head Start programs for the current school year, summer services, and the next school year starting in September 2024. Families have the option of full-year or school-year services. Services are free. Children need not be toilet-trained because they support that process and provide pull-ups. Families who receive SNAP and/or live with others, friends, family, in a shelter, transitional housing, or without a home automatically qualify. 45% of participants may be over-income, and they recommend everyone apply. A bus and transportation for most children is available. Services are for expectant mothers and children from birth until kindergarten.

Enrolling early in these programs guarantees your child and family participation until they transition to kindergarten. Head Start is licensed through the Oregon Early Learning Division for Child Care and boasts a five-Star rating. Teachers have, at a minimum, an Associate Degree in Early Childhood Education. Many of our staff have been parents in the program and live in the West Valley.

Head Start is a two-generation development program. First, it supports children and parents. Their partnership with parents focuses on children's development and addresses any concerns parents might have, including parenting supports, parent education (cooking, crafts, dad's days, etc.), and self-sufficiency and crisis support. Head Starts staff have been parents in the program, and they hire and train parents as a priority. Research shows the positive impact that Head Start has on school and life readiness for children and their families well into adulthood.

Children three - or four years old by Sept. 1 may attend preschool classes, Mondays through Thursdays. The younger children attend for four hours, and those transitioning to kindergarten may attend for six-hour days. Yearlong toddler classes are held twice a week for children at least 24 months of age by Sept. 1. Children receive two to three meals each day along with developmental screening and support to prepare them for the transition to kindergarten. Head Start offers weekly visits and family play times at the center in Sheridan for infants and young toddlers. To apply, call our administrative office at 503-472-2000, pick up an application outside of our center at 1500 West Main Street, or visit our website for an online application. www.yamhillhead-start.org.

Cans Stolen From Grand Sheramina Food Pantry

Grand Sheramina food bank receives most of its donations through cans. Occasionally bags are left outside the gate. Recently, four black lawn bags full of cans were placed at the gate for donation and stolen before Judy reached the food bank to place them inside. "If you see cans in bags near the food bank, leave them where they are. If you saw someone take these bags and know who it was, please return them to the food bank as intended." Judy asks.

The West Valley Bulletin Board will be closed on Monday, May 29 to observe Memorial Day. We will reopen normal business hours at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, May 30.

Public Asked to Visit Top Fire Outfit

Area residents are invited to visit and inspect the Sheridan Volunteer Fire Department when Open House is held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Fire Chief Cecil A. Harrison.

Visitors to the department will have the opportunity to talk with volunteers and examine the top-flight equipment of the community's outstanding department.

Chief Harrison, with the department for 40 years and as chief for 35, pointed out the department has six rigs on call to protect the city and a 100-square mile area that makes up the rural fire protection district.

Coffee and donuts will be served at the open house event, the chief announced. He urged everyone to come in for a tour of the facility and to see the equipment used.

In the six pieces of apparatus, Harrison said, a replacement cost of $85,000 is represented. He said the fire department, which is strictly volunteer and is operating on a 32-man enrollment, has a 750 gallon per minute pumper, which carries 1,000 gallons of water; a 750 gpm rig with 500 gallons; a 350 gpm with 1,000 gallons; a 500 gpm apparatus with 500 gallons; a transfer unit carrying 1,200 gallons; and a salvage and disaster unit termed by some to be the finest in a small department in the state of Oregon.

The department rigs are fully radio-equipped, a big point in maintaining a Class 5 insurance rating for the residents of the area served. This is one of the lowest ratings obtainable by a volunteer department.

Chief Harrison said the Sheridan department was one of the pioneers in rural fire district protection, by obtaining equipment in 1941 specifically designed for rural firefighting.

He pointed out that he and the volunteers attend many training schools during the year and frequently drill as well as entering inter-department competition events.

OPEN HOUSE Saturday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Sheridan Fire Department will give area residents a chance to meet the volunteers and examine equipment. Among active department members, shown with some equipment, are (left to right) Gene Small, Cliff Bride, Chief Cecil Harrison, Jim Daeges, Matt Krauthoefer and Harold Ladd.
